About Annette Zwart

Annette Zwart is a tax adviser at AKD. She specialises in international tax law, corporate law and dividend tax. She advises on, among other things, everyday tax issues facing international companies. She is also closely involved with the structuring, restructuring and reorganisation of international groups.

Her client portfolio includes various medium-sized and large, international companies which operate in various sectors such as cosmetics, IT, real estate and manufacturing. They appreciate Annette's professional attitude and professional approach.

Annette is also a part-time lecturer in International Tax Law at the Amsterdam University of Applied Sciences (HES), where she is also closely involved with the development of the Tax Law and Economics study programme.
