

About Lotte Schat

Lotte is an experienced litigation and contracting lawyer specialising in international commercial matters. Her expertise extends to handling complex international arbitration cases and representing clients in the Dutch courts, including exequatur proceedings and securing interim measures.

Lotte's extensive transactional experience with high-value commercial contracts ensures that she is involved from the start to the completion of projects, offering comprehensive legal support.

Having previously headed the legal department of one of Europe's largest shipyards, Lotte has in-depth understanding of the impact, commercial imperatives, and the dynamics of disputes. This gives her valuable insights into the drivers for decision-making and the significance of maintaining commercial relations between the parties involved.

Lotte's broader perspective and her straightforward advice make her an indispensable asset to her clients.

Additionally, Lotte brings extensive industry knowledge and legal experience in the energy & offshore, maritime and yachting industries.
