About Sophie Hendriks

Sophie Hendriks is a lawyer at AKD who specialises in intellectual property law, ICT law and privacy law. She advises and represents clients in cases in these legal areas. During an internship in the legal department of a large IT company Sophie also gained experience with the implementation of the GDPR at international operating companies. Sophie is CIPP/e-certified.

Sophie's clients include local authorities, housing corporations and companies varying from multinationals to start-ups and they appreciate her rapid response time and practical advice.
